By Sarath Syam

Education is not a preparation but a part of life. Our first step towards formal education starts at the age of mere 2 years that takes a plunge from Play School to Kindergarten to High School to College and to the University for higher education. In each sphere of this journey what plays a prominent role in building our personality personally and professionally is the environment - the 'Campus'. The quality of the campus life has a reverberating effect on the career of every individual it surrounds. Thus, several institutes are striving towards providing the best exposure to the life beyond academia. Management Development Institute (MDI), a business school, is one of such institute where one can learn and adapt as per his/her zest of enthusiasm.

MDI is situated in the heart of the fast developing city Gurgaon. The green campus creates a peaceful ambience which is apt for nurturing a creative mind. This lush green background campus hosts air-conditioned lecture halls, syndicate rooms, faculty and administrative blocks, a state-of-the-art computer centre, and one of the best management libraries of the country. The institute's library is fully automated and has over 60,000 titles predominantly related to management and supporting disciplines.

Launching towards Success

With MDI's infrastructure, centrally located campus, and well stacked library, its students are provided with all key ingredients required to embark on a successful career. "For any person to be successful in this highly competitive era, he must learn how to develop his personality in order to be able to channel his energy towards his focus area. MDI has close to 18 student-driven clubs and interest groups that conduct and organize various events throughout the year," says Prof. Anil Anand Pathak, Chairperson - Student Affairs, MDI.
