Anti-Corruption Workshop – An International Perspective on Punitive, Preventive, and Participative Vigilance

Background

Speaking on the occasion of Vigilance Awareness Week, the President said “eradicating corruption is the foremost condition for creating a new India.” Corruption undermines democracy and good governance, severely curtails sustainable development, while also propagating risk to financial investments and sustainability of business firms. Corruption impacts the poor the most as they pay a high percentage of their income as bribes. Building the transparency and anti-corruption capacity of developing nations is the key starting point in the process of strengthening public institutions and rule of law.

The Government of India has sought to promote Punitive, Preventive and Participative Vigilance through the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC). Several vigilance measures have been introduced by the CVC in this direction to improve the accountability and integrity in functions of its owned/controlled organisations. CVC strives to ensure that all sorts of corruptions in government sector can be well prevented and addressed minutely. But corruption continues to present a tenacious challenge to nationally and internationally active organisations.

It may be noted that the nature of corruption and frauds is constantly changing. The increasing application of information technology and computers has brought about benefits in terms of speed and efficiency of business operations; but it has also provided opportunities for a new generation of corruption, frauds and cyber-crimes. Keeping in view the changes taking place in the business environment in the country and outside, it is necessary that country’s corruption, detection, investigation and prevention systems are improved to meet global standards.

Management Development Institute Gurgaon (MDI) in collaboration with Partnership for Transparency Fund (PTF) is organising a customised anti-corruption workshop of eleven days. This Workshop refers to legislative and regulatory framework for the prevention of corruption in the country and also best practices adopted in select outside countries.

Objectives

The participants (senior vigilance officers, CVC officials and vigilance professionals for private organisations) of the workshop will be exposed to global best practices and systems put in place for Punitive, Preventive and Participative Vigilance. This interactive and engaging anti-corruption workshop comprises of two phases spread over eleven days at MDI Gurgaon and foreign partner institutions. It aims at discussing legal and regulatory framework for corruption detection, prevention and investigation existing in the country and also in some select countries. The workshops/seminars conducted by foreign partner institute will facilitate the exchange of dialogues, experience and discussion around international standards of corruption prevention.

Programme Framework

Phase I: Domestic Workshops

For Three days

Phase I of the workshop which the participants will spend at the MDI campus in Gurgaon, is over three days and covers following issues;

- Types, Causes and Effects of Corruption
- Legislative and Regulatory Framework for the Prevention of Corruption
- Detection and Investigation of Corruption

Phase II: The Overseas Learning Workshops

For Eleven Days

While Phase I focuses on Indian regulatory environment, Phase II is spent with key public policy Schools, public departments and establishments in Europe. The idea being to look at globalization and the consequent challenges of transparent business from the other side. In second phase, based on what has been discussed and gathered during the first four days, participants will be exposed to some of the current thinking and best practices in International public policy schools and vigilance professionals. They will be provided with the opportunity to interact with contemporary vigilance professionals and academicians in some of the best European public policy schools and public offices. Besides department visit and interactive sessions with public officials, phase II will cover following issues;

- Fraud Investigation, Prevention and Detection
- International Standards – Corruption Prevention
- Strengthening the Institutional Anti-Corruption Framework
- Preventive and Participative Vigilance Mechanisms
- Adoption of best international practices in Indian scenario

Phase II also includes socio-cultural immersion and public office/department visits and interactive sessions with vigilance professional.

About Organizers and Partner Institutions

Management Development Institute Gurgaon (MDI) - was established in 1973 by Industrial Finance Corporation of India (IFCI), the first financial institution set up by the Government of India in 1948 by way of an IFC Act 1948. MDI is one of the top B-Schools of the country. The institute integrates knowledge, research, industry experience and international exposure to offer comprehensive management programmes. Soon after its establishment, MDI established itself as one of the earliest centers for continuing education in India. As an endorsement of its front runner position in the field of Post Graduate Education in Management in India, MDI’s PGPM (a two year full time MBA equivalent programme) has been awarded “A” Grade by the National Board of Accreditation of All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE). Various surveys have ranked MDI among the top B-schools of the Country. MDI is the first Indian B-school with Global accreditation AMBA-Association of MBAs, UK. The education programmes comprise of two year full-time PGPM, PGPHR, PGP-IM, 15-month Executive PGDBM, three-year Executive Management Programme, Doctoral level FPM I EFPM, Post Graduate Programme in Energy Management, and PG Diploma in Public Policy and Management. In addition to its academic programmes, MDI has been a pioneer as well as a market leader in the area of continuing education in management. With over 35 years in this field, MDI conducts nearly 200 weeks of intensive short-term training programmes each year, aimed at executives and managers from industry.

Partnership for Transparency Fund (PTF), U.S - is a not-for-profit anti-corruption organization that tackles small scale corruption around the world. Founded in 2000, the organization is headquartered in Washington, DC, with affiliates in the Philippines, India, South Africa and Germany. The organization provides technical assistance and mobilizes resources to aid partner civil society organizations (CSOs) that engage citizens in actions to improve governance, increase transparency and reduce corruption in developing countries. The stated mission is to advance innovative citizen-led approaches to improve governance, increase transparency, promote the rule of law and reduce corruption in developing and emerging countries. Since its inception, PTF has supported 162 civil society organizations in 66 countries completing over 260 projects. PTF’s model relies on the support of volunteer professionals who provide pro-bono assistance. Partners For Transparency Foundation India (PTF India) is India affiliate of PTF. PTF India has two primary goals: (i) to promote and advocate good governance, accountability, and transparency by encouraging participation of citizens and civil society; and (ii) to support grass root level initiatives undertaken by members of the civil society across the country and strengthen the effectiveness of good governance.

Hertie School of Governance, Berlin (Germany) - is a university based in Berlin, Germany, accredited by the state and the German Science Council. It prepares exceptional students for leadership positions in government, business and civil society. Interdisciplinary and practice-oriented teaching, first-class research and an extensive international network set the Hertie School apart and position it as an ambassador of good governance, characterised by public debate and engagement. The school is actively involved in conducting workshops and training programmes on anti corruption mechanisms. The Hertie School of Governance was formally founded as a, non-profit institution in December 2003 by the Hertie Foundation, thereby becoming the first professional school for public policy in Germany. Offering programmes that emphasised academic excellence and practical orientation in the reunified capital of Berlin, the Hertie School was, from its start, a unique educational institution in Germany. In February 2005, the Hertie School was granted official state recognition and given the authority by the Berlin Senate to award the academic title Master of Public Policy as an institution of higher learning.

The Institute for Development of Freedom of Information (IDFI), Tbilisi (Georgia) - is a Georgian non-governmental organization which tends to support the development of an informed and empowered society for democratic governance.
